

Lindsey chosen as 1999 Outstanding Cooperator

by Marvin McIlwain, Editor

Gareth Lindsey of Elba was recently selected by the Coffee County Soil and Water Conservation District as the 1999 Outstanding Cooperator.

Lindsey was born and raised on a farm in northwest Coffee County where the family farm of his youth centered around cotton, corn, peanuts, hogs and cattle. It was a way of life that never entirely left him throughout his life.

Lindsey attended school in the Pine Level Community until his eleventh grade year. It was at that time he decided he was smart enough to make it on his own. He left school and joined the United States Marine Corps. During this time, Chinese Communist forces invaded South Korea and Gareth ably served his country during the Korean War.

The Marine Corps taught Lindsey

the necessity of getting an education. After his service in the Corps, he continued his education which included attending law school at the University of Alabama. After graduation, he returned to Elba to begin his law practice that continues today.

Beginning a law practice in 1958 did not isolate Gareth from his farming roots. On the contrary, he continued the family farm operation until 1998. The operation consisted of cattle, peanuts, corn, and in the latter years, cotton. He also built up a purebred polled Hereford cattle herd of 500 head. He row-cropped 300 acres of peanuts, 600 acres of cotton, 300 acres of corn, and grew hay on 160 acres.

At an early age, Gareth became mindful of the necessity of applying and maintaining conservation practices on the land. He was taught the importance of maintaining good soil health by planting and plowing in blue lupine. This added organic matter and nitrogen to the soil. He witnessed the construction of terraces, which protected the land from damaging erosion, with mules and slip rams.

Lindsey continued to apply conservation practices throughout his farming years. He constructed parallel terraces which provided erosion control and the more efficient use of farm equipment on the fields. Grassed waterways were constructed and underground pipelines were installed to safely convey rainfall runoff out of the fields. Earthen, grassed diversions were constructed to divert storm-water away from erosive areas on the farm.

Peanut hay, a valuable feed for cattle, was not removed from fields after harvest. Instead, the hay was left on the land to add organic matter and nutrients back to the soil. Grassed field borders were established to trap sediment and prevent it from leaving fields and contaminating nearby streams.

Lindsey's pastures were not overgrazed and abused. Cattle stocking rates were adjusted and grazing rotations were followed so that grass was kept in a healthy condition, and the soil resource base was protected.

Lindsey's use and concern for the land made him a conservationist long before conservation and environmentalism began making the headlines. His management of the land resulted in the production of food and fiber in a way that was harmonious to the environment. And, his management of cropland, pastureland, and hayland kept soil erosion to a minimum.

Streams and creeks on Lindsey's property flowed clean and uncontaminated on to the downstream property owners. His conservation style was good for him, good for Coffee County, good for Alabama, and good for our country.

H&R Block to participate in IRS Debt Indicator Program

H&R Block recently announced that it has been named a partner in the IRS's "Debt Indicator" pilot program for the upcoming tax season. The Debt Indicator program will aid the IRS and its partners in screening for electronic filing fraud and is also expected to substantially reduce refund anticipation loan (RAL) pricing.

"The IRS's decision to launch the Debt Indicator program is good news for many of our clients who opt to receive the amount of their refund through Refund Anticipation Loans," says Frank L. Salizzoni, H&R Block's chief executive officer. "The IRS program will likely result in substantially lower fees for this service."

The Debt Indicator notifies lending institutions if a taxpayer's refund will be reduced by an offset, which occurs when taxpayers have back taxes, delinquent student loans or overpayments from federal agencies. Under the program, the IRS will offer its partners information

Recycling for Rex & Kitty

No matter how you stack 'em, 200 million aluminum cans really add up. That's how many have been recycled through Paws to Recycle, a program that benefits animal shelters and non-profit animal organizations.

The program is now in its sixth year. Shelters hold can drives to raise money for operating costs and to compete for cash prizes that go toward operating budgets.

Craig Covert, manager of marketing communications for Alcoa's Rigid Packaging Division, emphasized that Paws to Recycle is a win-win program, working to benefit both animal shelters and the environment.

"While raising funds for shelters," he said, "Paws raises awareness of the importance and ease of recycling. The program makes it easy for everyone to save aluminum cans and put them to good use by participating shelters."

on refund offsets in exchange for tax preparers' help in strengthening anti-fraud efforts and increasing the number of e-filed returns. Anti-fraud efforts include using the resources of the Fraud Service Bureau, a scoring and screening service operated by Household International on behalf of member banks, that helps to identify potential fraudulent or abusive returns.

The company noted that in fiscal year 1994, the last year an IRS notification program was available, 5.5 million Block clients qualified and chose to get their money within two to three days through the RAL program. After that program was discontinued, the number of qualifying and participating clients was cut and the cost of RALs to remaining clients increased dramatically due to the higher bad debt costs incurred by lending institutions.

BRAINSTORMS

With Ferrin Cox

It is Christmas time again and regardless of a person's age or how many times Christmas has come and gone, there continues to be a certain amount of excitement which builds up all around as the season climaxes. The traditions which accompany the celebration of Christmas have changed throughout the centuries from the time of the first recorded honoring of Christ's birthday in 336 AD to today's fast-paced life and the ever widening celebration still anchored in the religion of 1.8 billion Christians worldwide. There is no accurate information which documents December 25th as the actual birthdate of Jesus. Many who have done research on the issue think the date was selected as such a Holy Day by Christians in Rome to take the punch out of a very popular mid-winter pagan holiday celebrating the winter solstice. The celebration of the birth of Christ has spread around the globe, fallen out of favor under certain insecure rulers and been accepted by Christians and non-Christians alike as a festive occasion, a time for parties and giving of gifts.

The gift-giving may spring from the oft-told story of the three wise men taking gold, incense and myrrh to the baby Jesus. Whatever the origin, it didn't become commonplace to exchange elaborate gifts until late in the 1800's and has become a much hyped and profitable event for retailers, especially in 85% Christian America. Christmas trees are a German tradition dating back to 700 AD. It spread to England and then to America through immigrants bringing it with them to the new world. Decorations follow a similar evolution, with mistletoe moving from an official ban by Christians throughout the middle ages and into some early 20th century English churches because of its association with many pagan rituals. The Scandinavian goddess of love is associated with mistletoe and this is probably the link to kissing under the mistletoe. As with so many other traditions, holly is used because of the Church banning mistletoe and offering holly as a substitute. The reasoning given was that the pointed leaves represented thorns in Christ's crown and the red berries were drops of His blood. Poinsettias came to America from Mexico in about 1828 when the Mexican ambassador brought some back with him. Of course there is little debate that the nativity scene is straight out of the books of Matthew and/or Luke in the Bible. Two billions times a year someone opens a Christmas card, just in the United States alone. This is quite a jump from something which started in London in about 1843. Santa Claus was apparently originally a real person, but not as we depict him today. One early reference is of a minor saint from the 4th century who was imprisoned by the Roman emperor Diocletian for his Christian beliefs. In 1087 Italian sailors the Navy always gets blamed for many things) stole his remains from a grave at his church in Myra and took them to Bari, Italy, where they remain today. His tradition was brought to America by Dutch in the 17th century. He gained a sleigh, reindeer and their names plus the chimney with Clement Moore writing of "The Night Before Christmas" in 1822. Originally written for the son of his family, Moore didn't acknowledge writing the story for 15 years! Rudolf is the invention of the advertising department of Montgomery Ward in 1939 and was made popular when the singing cowboy Gene Autry in 1949 put the poem to music. This Christmas song is second only to "White Christmas," the Irving Berlin song made popular by Bing Crosby in the movie "Holiday Inn" in 1942. One last tidbit deals with the oft used, oft scorned use of Xmas for Christmas. The scorn will be less violent if we remember that the Greek word for Christ is Xristos and has been used in Europe since the 1500's. It fits well in American advertising because Xmas has exactly the same number of letters as the word Sale!

"I knew you would come..."

by Senator Bill Armistead

In anticipation of celebrating Christ's birth this week, I wrote a Christmas article for this space a few days ago. Then, Sunday, I went to church and heard this true story which was very meaningful to me. So, I've decided to share with you this touching story that I hope helps you put things into perspective as it did with me. The following event was written by Elizabeth King English.

"Herman and I locked our general store and dragged ourselves home. It was 11:00 P.M., Christmas Eve of 1949. We were dog-tired. We had sold almost all of our toys, and all of the layaways, except one package, had been picked up."

"Usually we kept the store open until everything had been claimed. We wouldn't have woken up happy on Christmas knowing that our child's gift was still on the layaway shelf. But the person who had put a dollar down on that package never returned."

"Early Christmas morning we and our twelve-year-old son, Tom, were something humdrum about this Christmas. Tom was growing up. I missed his childish exuberance of past years."

"As soon as breakfast was over Tom came to visit his friend next door. Herman mumbled, 'I'm going back to sleep. There's nothing left to stay for.' So there I was alone, feeling left down."

ELBA GENERAL HOSPITAL REPORT

Elba General Hospital had the following patients admitted during the time period of December 14, 1999, through December 20, 1999. They were: Maggie Head, Margaret Calhoun, Karl Mitchell, Mavis Legear, Sabrina Thomas, May Bryan, Terry Chandler, Jimmie Belcher, Lois Locklar, Amber Goodwin, Dale Maddox, Patricia Brumley, Elsie McGaha, Alberta Martin, Barbara Turner, Mary Smith, Dorothy Crawley, John Johnson, Cynthia Hudson, Chelsea Moseley, Fannie Berry, Mary Dukes, Sue Johnson, and Timothy Thigpen.

Persons discharged during the same time period were: Dena Hudson, Mericka Crawford, Henry Eiland, Sierra Odom, Josephine Green, Richard McConnell, N. D. Campbell, John Gilbert, May Bryan, Sabrina Thomas, Lois Locklar, Amber Belcher, Karl Mitchell, Margaret Calhoun, Barbara Turner, Amber Goodwin, Alberta Martin, Mavis Legear, Maggie Head, Dale Maddox, Benie Sparlin, Jacqueline Harbuck, Elsie McGaha, Dorothy Crawley, Patricia Brumley, Jimmie Belcher, Mary Smith, and John Johnson.

"And then it began. A strange, persistent urge. It seemed to be telling me to go to the store. I looked at the sleek and icy sidewalk outside. That's crazy, I said to myself. I tried dismissing the urge, but it wouldn't leave me alone. In fact, it was getting stronger. Finally, I couldn't stand it any longer, and I got dressed."

"Outside, the wind cut right through me and the sleek stung my cheeks. I groped my way to the store, slipping and sliding. In front stood two boys, one about nine and the other about six. What in the world?"

"See, I told you she would come!" the older boy said jubilantly. The younger one's face was wet with tears, but when he saw me, his sobbing stopped.

"What are you two doing out here?" I stilled, hurrying them into the store. They should be at home on a day like this! They were poorly dressed. They had no hats or gloves, and their shoes barely held together. I rubbed their icy hands, and got them up close the heater.

"We've been waiting for you," replied the older boy. "My little brother Jimmy didn't get any Christmas." He touched Jimmy's shoulder. We want to buy some skates. That's what he wants. We have these three dollars," he said, pulling the bills from his pocket.

"I looked at the money. I looked at their expectant faces. And then I thought of the greatest gift ever given - Jesus Christ, the Son of God!"

Christ made a point of seeking out the broken and disenfranchised people of his day. And He still ministers to all who will call upon His name today, just as shown in the above true story. But, most importantly, it is through Jesus Christ that we can have eternal life.

My prayer is that He will be real to you as we celebrate His birth and that you, too, will know Him as your Savior.

Pugh named CEO of Dorsey Trailers, Inc.

ATLANTA - Dorsey Trailers, Inc. (OTC Bulletin Board: DSYT) has announced that John L. Pugh was named Chief Executive Officer of Dorsey Trailers, Inc. by the Board of Directors of the Company. Mr. Pugh will succeed Marilyn R. Marks, who has served the company in that capacity since leading a leveraged buyout in 1987. Miss Marks will continue to serve as Chairman of the Board of Directors.

Marks said, "John Pugh has the business experience and leadership skills to drive the progress of the company, building on the successful turnaround achieved by the operating management over the last two years. We are delighted to have an executive with John's experience and reputation join Dorsey. John Pugh has significant operations and financial experience and executive insights based upon his senior management roles with several different companies and industries. I believe that he and Lord Palke, Dorsey President and Chief Operating Officer, will be an excellent leadership team to take the company forward."

Mr. Pugh comes to Dorsey from his position at Five Star Food Service, Inc., where he served as Executive Vice President. He was responsible for facilitating Five Star's rapid growth industry consolidation strategy through acquisitions. Mr. Pugh has served as the CEO of Triton Air Holdings, a $250 million aviation services and wholesale fuel supply company.

During his tenure with Triton, Mr. Pugh also served as CEO of Aero Services International, an aviation services company. In addition, he was previously the President of Poolquip, Inc., a wholesale distributor of swimming pool equipment and supplies, and the Senior Vice President of Operations for Hangar One, Inc., an aviation services company. Mr. Pugh is a graduate of Florida Atlantic University and attended Harvard Business School's Program for Management Development (PMD).

Miss Marks continues her strong commitment to the company in a new role of leading Dorsey's primary e-commerce initiative through its ownership interest in TruckBay.com, Inc. TruckBay is a newly formed start-up company that is a strategic operating and financial vertical portal, serving the trucking industry. Miss Marks will become Chairman and CEO of TruckBay. Dorsey Trailers currently has an equity interest of approximately 20% in TruckBay. Other TruckBay equity owners and investors include Miss Marks and several highly respected carriers and trucking industry entrepreneurs. Marks will devote the vast majority of her time to the execution of TruckBay's business plan and value creation for the TruckBay investors and customers.

Miss Marks commented, "I believe that we can create the most value for Dorsey shareholders by aggressively pursuing an e-commerce strategy for the underserved trucking market. We have joined together with the right strategic partners and suppliers to implement a very exciting plan to create great value for the trucking industry. The aggressive execution requires full time effort, which I will enthusiastically give to the business. I am delighted that John Pugh has accepted the role of Dorsey's CEO, and will work to support his efforts in leading the company. I have known John and his excellent business reputation for several years, and feel that Dorsey is fortunate to have his talent and enthusiasm devoted to its continued growth and profitability."

"Dorsey is expected to be a preferred supplier of aftermarket parts and new and used equipment to TruckBay. While TruckBay will have a very extensive product and services offering, extending far beyond trailer related businesses, Dorsey and TruckBay will work together to provide Dorsey dealers and customers with business opportunities and value not possible before the use of the Internet as a platform for commerce."

It should be cautioned that TruckBay is in the early start-up stages and does not expect to be generating revenue for several months, and has all the business risks associated with early stage Internet start-ups. Dorsey has not committed financial capital to the venture. Its equity interest was generated as a result of the past and future contribution of intellectual capital, support, management time and its commitment to supply TruckBay and its customers. It is not anticipated that Dorsey will commit financial capital to the venture, although we have negotiated (or the option to do so in future capital raising rounds if appropriate). As a result, Dorsey's approximate 20% interest, (which is currently in the form of a warrant) will be diluted as future financial capital is raised for TruckBay.

"I believe that with John Pugh and the Dorsey management team leading the growth efforts of Dorsey's manufacturing business, and my ability to focus on the e-commerce efforts, we will together enhance shareholder value in the most effective way. I look forward to working with John, as well as continuing my very satisfying relationship with Dorsey and its customers and suppliers."

Dorsey Trailers, Inc. designs, manufactures, and markets one of the broadest lines of high-quality, customized truck trailers through three plants located in Alabama, Georgia and South Carolina.

WHY JESUS IS BETTER THAN SANTA CLAUS.

by John Baxter-Elba United Methodist Church

- Santa lives at the North Pole . . . JESUS is everywhere.
- Santa comes but once a year . . . JESUS is an ever present help.
- Santa fills your stockings with goodies . . . JESUS supplies all your needs.
- Santa comes down your chimney uninvited . . . JESUS stands at your door and knocks, and then enters your heart.
- You have to wait in line to see Santa . . . JESUS is as close as the mention of His name.
- Santa doesn't know your name, all he can say is "Hi little boy or girl, what's your name?" . . . JESUS knew our name before we did. Not only does He know our name, He knows our address too. He knows our history and future and He even knows how many hairs are on our heads . . . JESUS gives you joy that is your strength.
- While Santa puts gifts under your tree . . . JESUS became our gift and died on the tree. It's obvious there is really no comparison. We need to remember WHO Christmas is all about. We need to put Christ back in Christmas. Jesus is still the reason for the season. Yes, Jesus is better, he is even better than Santa Claus.

Her parents were Thomas and Mattie Lee Jackson, both deceased. Her husband was Charlie Tillis, also deceased. Together, they were blessed with five children: Rufus, Rufus, Robert, Charlie Jr. and Gussie.

Mrs. Pearl says, "I have come this far by faith, leaning on the Lord. I attended Tillis School in Covington County, and when I got old enough to work, I worked hard before and after marriage. I worked for different land owners. I have plowed with a mule, cut stalks, rolled logs, split rails, chopped and picked cotton, shook and stacked peanuts and pulled corn. I remember going to the grist mill and have corn ground for Cornmeal. All of this happened a long time ago. It was hard but honest work. I went to Orlando, Fla., and worked in a motel for awhile."

Mrs. Tillis is a member of Bethlehem Baptist Church in Elba, Ala. Rev. Daryl Candler is her pastor. She has been called Cousin Pearl, Sister Pearl, Aunt Pearl, and Miss Pearl. By whatever name she is called, she is a great humanitarian and a very remarkable woman.

Her granddaughter, Tammy Tillis, wants her to know that life can be beautiful, and life is more than counting birthdays. It's an experience marked by deeds not days, by feelings, not numbers on a calendar, and the one feeling that does more to add meaning, fullness, stature, zest and satisfaction to our days is - Love!

New Year's Eve Watch Night Services at Rocky Head Missionary Baptist Church of Elba will be Dec. 31 at 10 p.m. There will be prayers, praise and testimonies. Sermon will be given by Rev. Willie O. Edwards.

Today is a good day, be grateful! Eria

Merry Christmas 1999

Happy New Year 2000

PASTOR'S CORNER

Rev. W.L. Peterson
GREATER NEW ZION BAPTIST CHURCH

Merry Christmas

While Christmas is ideally a time of great joy, a time of celebration, a quick reality check will remind us of the darkness that still lingers around in the lives of many people. This season to some brings back memories that are not to be favorable. The sound of jingle bells, silent night even the greeting of "Merry Christmas" becomes offensive to some people.

A child of God must remember that no matter what memories this season brings, God is still in control. We must remember that Jesus is the reason for the season. We must remember that we are the light of the world and just as these Christmas lights dispel the darkness and makes things look better we too possess the power to dispel darkness and bring some light into a dark life. This Christmas we ought to give someone the light of a visit, a meal, or a gift that says God loves you. These are the things that have an impact far beyond the Christmas season.

Every person, no matter what his or her status may be can get encouragement from the fact that Jesus was born into the simplest of surrounding. Those surroundings help to draw our attention to the real message of this season. Giving gifts is great, and as I said before they can have a lasting effect on people, but Christmas has never depended upon the presents one receives, but only on the presence of Jesus.

Here's hoping you have a Merry Christmas. A scripture from the book of Isaiah chapter nine.

"For unto us a child is born, unto us a son is given; and the government shall be upon his shoulder; and his name shall be called wonderful counselor. The mighty God, The everlasting father, The prince of peace, of the increase of his government and peace there shall be no end, upon the throne of David and upon his kingdom, to order it, and to establish it with judgment and with justice from henceforth even for ever. The zeal of the Lord of hosts will perform this."

MERRY CHRISTMAS.

Energy assistance provided by Project Share again this year

The Coffee Chapter of the American Red Cross will begin accepting applications on Jan. 3, 2000 for Project SHARE, the energy assistance program for low-income elderly or disabled individuals. Residents of Coffee County can set up an appointment by calling the Project SHARE office at 347-2461.

As the organization responsible for administering Project SHARE funds, a Red Cross representative will interview applicants seeking financial assistance in paying their heating bill. For those who qualify, payments will be made directly to the energy supplier.

To qualify for assistance, the family income must be within certain guidelines depending on the size of the household. In addition, the head of the household must meet one of the following eligibility criteria: * Sixty-two years of age or older; or * Receiving a disability check.

Project SHARE (Service to Help Alabamians with Relief on Energy) was introduced in 1982 through an agreement between Alabama Power Company and the American Red Cross. Since 1984, Alabama Gas Corporation and 18 other electric cooperatives and municipalities have joined and now participate in the program.

Project SHARE is funded through the voluntary pledges made by customers of participating energy suppliers. Assistance is geared toward the need of the client rather than entitlement. Please help those in need this winter by donating to Project SHARE through your energy provider.

THE PRESSBOX

By Ricky Mularz, Sports Editor

School got out at lunch on Friday for the Christmas holidays, and before the end of the day both of the Mularz girls were already bored. Melanie could not find anything to do at home and begged her way into spending the night with a friend, while Melissa went to cheer at the Elba basketball game, and got mad at dear old Dad because I didn't go and let her stay for the other games. If the first day of the holidays was any indication, Mom and Dad might need some therapy by the time the new year rolls along. Oh yea, Merry Christmas from the entire Mularz Family!

HITTING THE HOLIDAY HIGHLIGHTS....

 The Elba Tigers rebounded from their loss to Houston Academy to claim big wins over Slocomb and Enterprise, but then went to the Andalusia Christmas Tournament without their coach and were upset by the Greenville Tigers. I'll not comment on the rumors concerning the absence of Coach Johnston from the bench until school officials make an official announcement; however, the Tigers did return to their early-season form in the wins over Slocomb and Enterprise, and are very worthy of their top 10 ranking in the high school basketball polls. Guards Josh Lawford and Sammy Hill both began to shoot from the outside and should give the Tigers added weapons in weeks to come, while Wayne Reed continued to display his offensive talents, and Tim Ware and Monroe Williams continued to take charge inside. If the Tigers can get some bench help, and remain focused, they should still have plenty of wins up their sleeves.

 The Elba Lady Tigers dropped two games last week to see their record slip to 2-5, but the Lady Tigers are getting closer and closer to becoming a winning team. The girls blew a big lead in a loss to Slocomb and battled hard for all four quarters in the loss to 6A Enterprise, only to take losses in both outings. Before long the ball should begin to bounce Elba's way, and when it does the Lady Tigers will get the wins they have been letting slip away. They ain't that bad, trust me!

 The New Brockton Gamecocks lost their second game of the season Saturday night against Andalusia in the semifinals of the Andalusia Christmas Tournament, but played the hometown Bulldogs on even terms throughout the game and continued to convince me that they are indeed one of the top 2A teams in the state. The Gamecocks had to adjust to the rough play allowed by the officials, but still managed to hang tough, and really could have won the game. This bunch of players have literally grown up together, and are a true team in every sense of the word. Look out for the Gamecocks, they are a team headed for big things in 2000.

 A look around the area showed that Zion Chapel carried a four-game losing streak into its holiday tournament after failing to McKenzie, Florida, New Brockton and G.W. Long, while Kinston continued to play hard for four quarters every time it hit the court and surprised Samson, and Brantley opened the year with two wins, but may not be as good as advertised. We should know more about these folks in the weeks to come as the season gets into full swing.

 The Alabama Sports Writers Association released its annual All-State high school football team last week, and not one single player from a Coffee County school even made honorable mention. Players from such teams as Rehobeth, Cottonwood, Daleville, Goshen and Houston County all made the list, but Elba, Enterprise, New Brockton, Kinston and Zion Chapel got shut out. Heck, Brantley's Zack Burnett was named "Super All-State" by the Birmingham News, but only received honorable mention by the sports writers. In my opinion the ASWA list is a farce!

 The Elba Parks and Recreation Department will tip off its youth basketball season the week after new year's, and this season the games will be played on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. The numbers in the youth leagues have been cut back since the school started a seventh grade program, but there are still plenty of kids around wanting to play, and this year there will be plenty of action just about every night of the week. In Andalusia Christmas Tournament

Elba Tigers suffer opening round upset, New Brockton falls in semifinal action

The 33rd annual Andalusia Christmas Tournament tipped off last weekend at the Andalusia High School gym, and area fans' hopes of an Elba-New Brockton rematch in the quarterfinals proved to be short-lived as the Tigers were upset in the opening round by Greenville 52-48, and the Gamecocks were defeated by Andalusia in the semifinals 47-42.

Following are tourney highlights:

OPENING ROUND

GREENVILLE 52

ELBA 48

The Elba Tigers saw a furious second half rally fall short Friday night in a 52-48 upset loss to the Greenville Tigers.

Elba matched Greenville bucket-for-bucket in the early going; however, the Tigers went ice cold from the field in the second stanza, and Greenville took advantage of the

NEW BROCKTON 79

ENTERPRISE 74

The New Brockton Gamecocks pulled ahead late in the opening stanza and then pulled away to clothes the Enterprise Wildcats 79-64.

The Gamecocks outscored the Wildcats 10-4 late in the first quarter as the Tigers pulled within 36-29, but Greenville refused to let the Tigers get any closer until late in the game, when a Tim Ware dunk with 15 left pulled Elba within 49-46. A dunk by Monroe Williams with 10 remaining got the Tigers to back within 51-48. However, Greenville hit its free-throws down the stretch to hold on and stun the Tigers 52-48.

Tim Ware scored 15 points and Wayne Reed added 12 to spark the Tigers, while Aaron Coleman scored 9 and Monroe Williams added 8.

The ejection seemed to take its toll on the Wildcats, as they went cold from the floor and watched as New Brockton pulled away and opened up a 41-24 halftime bulge. The remainder of the game was simply more of the same as the Gamecocks easily rolled to the big win over their county rivals.

Kellen Cole and Pate Harrison both scored 18 points to lead New Brockton, while Jason McKenzie added 15. Andre Jones scored 12 and Maurice Flowers scored 11. Willie Lee led Enterprise with 18 points.

SEMIFINALS:

ANDALUSIA 47

NEW BROCKTON 42

The New Brockton Gamecocks saw their run toward the tourney title hit a bump in the road on Saturday night as the Andalusia Bulldogs rallied late to down the Gamecocks 47-42.

New Brockton jumped out to an early 9-2 lead over the 5A Bulldogs and led throughout the opening half of play, but Andalusia managed to stay within striking distance and then converted on key free-throws down the stretch to pull out the win.

Kellen Cole scored 15 points to lead New Brockton, while Renaldo McClain led Andalusia with 12.

Holiday season represents many cultural celebrations

by Sandra Coffey
County Extension Coordinator

The holiday season represents many cultural celebrations. Major holidays celebrated during December include the Christian Christmas, Jewish Hanukkah and African-American Kwanzaa. Several other international holidays are also celebrated by smaller ethnic groups.

These holiday celebrations offer parents an excellent opportunity to teach their children to respect other cultures and traditions. In addition to providing opportunities for families to celebrate together, rituals teach families how to communicate and adapt, and they often affirm family values, faith and beliefs.

While most Americans know and participate in religious Christmas traditions which celebrate the birth of Jesus, or cultural Christmas traditions involving St. Nick (Santa Claus), many don't know the traditions of some of their neighbors.

Hanukkah, known as the Festival of Lights, is a relatively minor holiday in the Jewish calendar but it has been magnified because of its closeness to Christmas. Hanukkah is an eight-day celebration that begins December 3rd. It commemorates the successful fight for religious freedom and the rededication of the Temple once it was reclaimed from the Greco-Syrians.

Several traditions are involved in the celebration of Hanukkah. The most visible is the lighting of the menorah, a candlestick holding nine candles. The center candle is lit first and then used to light one candle each night for eight nights, including potato latkes and jelly doughnuts. These foods commemorate the lamp in the newly rededicated Temple that miraculously burned for eight days on enough oil for one day. Children play dreidel with a four-sided top. Each side is inscribed with a Hebrew letter spelling out "A great miracle happened here," or outside Israel, "A great miracle happened there."

A new celebration gaining popularity is Kwanzaa, an African-American celebration from December 26th-January 1st. It's a harvest festival developed in 1966 by a professor of Pan-African studies and a black cultural leader. The name comes from the Swahili phrase meaning "first fruits."

Kwanzaa celebrates African practices with African-American ideals and aspirations. It pays tribute to cultural heritage, embraces today's family and strives to establish good memories and traditions. The holiday centers on seven principles, one of which is focused on each day of the holiday. These principles include unity, self-determination, collective work and responsibility, cooperative economics, purpose and creativity and faith. A special candle is lit each evening as the principle of the day is discussed. A black candle in the center, symbolizing the people, is lit first, then three green candles on the right symbolizing youth and hope for the future, then three red candles on the left, symbolizing ongoing struggle. Other cultural holidays celebrated around Christmas include Los Posados, a nine-day Mexican holiday. Participants reenact the story of Mary and Joseph trying to find lodging in Bethlehem. Children get to break pinatas to find the goodies inside.

By updating our computer lab, we will be better able to serve the Fort Rucker community," says Harvey Watt, Associate Dean of the campus. "As they [the Army] continue to be on the cutting edge, we can better serve them."

The ESJC Fort Rucker campus opened in 1984. Old World War II barracks housed the offices and some classrooms where a few courses were offered. The new, state-of-the-art facilities are a great improvement. "Our sincere thanks go to the Fort Rucker personnel for helping make this facility available to the colleges. Without the total support of Fort Rucker, not just for the facilities and the soldiers, all this would not be possible," says Watt. "This was a joint venture."

ESJC's spring semester will begin Jan. 7. The Fort Rucker campus will be open for registration Jan. 3-6. For more information about admission to the College or how to register, call the Fort Rucker campus at 334-598-3438 or visit our website at www.esjc.edu.

The health risks of excess weight

If you need a little extra incentive to lose the weight you'd like to lose, here's help:

First, let's chew the fat about fat. Excess pounds can shorten your life and lighten your wallet. Obesity has been linked to heart disease, diabetes, certain types of cancer, gallbladder troubles and high cholesterol. In fact, obesity-related medical conditions are the second leading cause of preventable death, resulting in 300,000 deaths every year.

Obesity also costs our economy about a 100 billion dollars a year in health care costs and lost productivity. And that's not even counting the nearly 48 billion dollars spent per year by people trying to lose weight.

On the plus side, however, is that plus-sized people may be getting some assistance from science. Researchers recently discovered a

Allergies: the eyes have it

Here's a look at a new nationwide survey that shows how much more people can be doing to alleviate the nagging symptoms of eye allergies—itchy, watery, irritated eyes.

Results of the survey show that most of the 86 million people in this country who suffer from nose, head and throat allergies also suffer from eye allergies. However, more than half of these people do not mention their eye allergy symptoms to their doctors and most allergy sufferers are unaware of specific treatments that can relieve the nagging symptoms of allergy eyes.

Fortunately, new research presented at the annual meeting of the American College of Allergy, Asthma & Immunology points to an effective treatment plan for eye allergy symptoms.

Results of this study showed that patients who used the leading allergy eye drop Patanol® along with an oral antihistamine pill, had greater relief of eye allergy symptoms than those who took just the antihistamine pill alone.

Oral antihistamines may even make eye allergy problems worse, by causing eyes to become dry and more irritated. A free brochure about eye allergies is available by calling 1-888-728-2665 or visiting www.patanol.com.

Wishing you a most joyous holiday season and the very best in 2000!

14 deaths predicted during holiday travel period

The Alabama Department of Public Safety estimates that 14 people will lose their lives in traffic wrecks during the 78-hour Christmas holiday travel period, which begins at 6 p.m. Thursday (TODAY), December 23, and ends at midnight Sunday, December 26. In 1998, 16 people died in traffic crashes on Alabama roadways during a 78-hour Christmas period, 11 on rural roads and 5 in urban areas. Alcohol was a known factor in at least 4 of the deaths, and three of the victims were not using safety belts.

The traffic fatality prediction for

New Year's is that 10 people will die in traffic wrecks in Alabama during the 78-hour period from 6 p.m. Thursday, December 30, through midnight Sunday, January 2, 2000.

Last year, five people died during the 78-hour New Year's holiday travel period with all the fatalities occurring on rural roads. At least two of the deaths were confirmed to be alcohol related. Four wreck victims were not using safety belts.

All available troopers will be on patrol during peak holiday travel times to arrest drunken drivers, speeders and other hazardous drivers.

Troopers will also focus on enforcement of Alabama's new primary safety belt law, which allows officers to stop a vehicle if the front seat occupants are not wearing safety belts. The penalty for failure to buckle up is a fine of up to $25.

"We want all travelers in Alabama to be safe and arrive alive at their holiday destinations," said Col. James H. Alexander, director of the Alabama Department of Public Safety. "When an impaired driver gets behind the wheel, every person on the road is in danger."

HOLIDAY FELLOWSHIP...Members of Masonic Lodge #170 and their families recently gathered for a time of fellowship during their annual Christmas dinner. Scenes like the one captured above are very common for many organizations, companies, families and friends during the holiday season.
